der reset():	messagebox.	reset()	if var == answers[num]:	global words,answers,num	def checkanyl):	global words, answers, num	def first():	o num=random.ra	words=["dinai",' "] :	answers=["india	from tkinter imp	import random	No. import tkinter messagebox.showerror("Error", "wrog answer")	messagebox.showinfo("Wow!","It's the correct answer") reset() se:	rs[num]:	nswers,num	raben.com@(rext=words(num)) if checkans():	nswers,num		num=random.randrange(0,10,1)	words=["dinai","ancdaa","anajp","hncai","ydnsye","gpeyt","ilrofinaca","wsztdinearf","lahitdan","oahtgic "] :	answers=["india","canada","japan","china","sydney","egypt","california","switzerland","thailand","chica go"]	from tkinter import messagebox			source (ocle:
														1

```
Pin 1) to create a simple project using global words, answers, num widgets.
                                                                                                                               green", relief=RIDGE, command=reset) res_button=Button(root,text="Reset",font=("Comic sans ms",16),width=16,bg="grey",fg="light ms",16),width=16,bg="grey",fg="magenta",relief=RIDGE,command=checkans) first()
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 button.pack(pady=40)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        button=Button(root,text="check",font=("Comic sans entry = Entry(root, font = ("Verdana", 15), textvariable = select) select=StringVar()
                                                                                     res_button.pack()
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  entry.pack(ipadx=5,ipady=5)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           root.geometry("350x400+400+150") root=tkinter.Tk()
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           label.pack(pady=30,ipadx=10,ipady=10) label=Label(root,font=("Verdana",18),bg="black",fg="white") root.config(background="black") root.title("Jumbling Words!") label.config(text=words[num]) num=random.randrange(0,10,1)
```

root.mainloop()

ó.

>>> import os,sqlite3

>>> conn=sqlite3.connect >>> conn=sqlite3.connect("Shoes.db") >>> cur=conn.cursor()

>>> cur.execute('create table shoe(Name char, Model_no int, Colour char, Size int)')

<sqlite3.Cursor object at 0x036F1EA0>

jogger",767638,"black",9)') >>> cur.execute('insert into shoe values("Nike Air Jordan",879898, "blue",10),("addidas

<sqlite3.Cursor object at 0x036F1EA0>

>>> cur.execute('Select * from shoe')

<sqlite3.Cursor object at 0x036F1EA0>

>>> print(cur.fetchall())

[('Nike Air Jordan', 879898, 'blue', 10), ('addidas jogger', 767638, 'black', 9)]

Retro",398598,"Grey",9)') >>> cur.execute('insert into shoe values("Puma Roma",738928,"white",10),("Air Jordan 7

<sqlite3.Cursor object at 0x036F1EA0>

>>> cur.execute('Select * from shoe')

<sqlite3.Cursor object at 0x036F1EA0>

>>> print(cur.fetchall())

'white', 10), ('Air Jordan 7 Retro', 398598, 'Grey', 9)] [('Nike Air Jordan', 879898, 'blue', 10), ('addidas jogger', 767638, 'black', 9), ('Puma Roma', 738938, >>> cur.execute('UPDATE shoe SET Name="Reebok " WHERE Model_no=738928')

<sqlite3.Cursor object at 0x036F1EA0>

>>> cur.execute('ALTER TABLE shoe ADD mngf_year')

<sqlite3.Cursor object at 0x036F1EA0>

>>> cur.execute('Select * from shoe')

<sqlite3.Cursor object at 0x036F1EA0>

Wing develop real life applications using blue, 10, None), ("addidas jogger", 767638, 'black, 9, None), ("Reebok", 738928, 'white', 10, None), ("Air Jordan 7 Retro", 398598, Grey, 9, None)]
>>> cur execute(DROP TABLE shoe)